DETAILED ACTION

Allowance

1. Claims 1-4 and 6-13 are pending.
2. Applicant's arguments, see Remarks and Declaration, filed May 28, 2004, with respect to Nakashima et al. (US 5,876,466) and Akasawa (US 5,679,418) have been fully considered and are persuasive. The rejection of claims 1-3 and 6-13 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nakashima et al. (US 5,876,466) and the rejection of claims 1-4, 6 and 8 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Akasawa (US 5,679,418) have been withdrawn.

Reasons for Allowance

3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Claims 1-4 and 6-13, renumbered 1-12, are allowable upon consideration of the prior art.

The prior art most pertinent to the instant claims is Nakashima et al. (US 5,876,466). Nakashima et al. teach suede-like artificial leather comprising polyurethane. Specifically Nakashima et al. teach that the weight ratio of the polyurethane in the suede-like artificial leather is 20-60% by weight. However, Nakashima et al. do not teach or suggest the claimed percentage of 50-90wt% of polycarbonate diol in the polyurethane and the other requisite limitations as recited by the instant claims.

Another pertinent prior art is Akasawa (US 5,679,418). Akasawa teach leather-like sheet comprising polyurethane. However, Akasawa teach 40wt% polycarbonate diol and the instant claims are drawn to 50-90wt% polycarbonate diol. Applicant's arguments and declaration show criticality of the higher percentage of polycarbonate diol on the properties recited by the instant claims and the addition of 10wt% more polycarbonate diol to the leather-like sheet would not have been obvious.

None of the prior art of record specifically teach or suggest the claimed percentage of 50-90wt% polycarbonate diol and the other requisite limitations as recited by the instant claims.

4. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
